God Is With Me

When my day is lonely and depressing,
God is with me.

When my heart aches because I miss my family, friends and loved ones,
God is with me.

When I overcome a hardship or problem,
God is with me.

When I receive that special letter or visit,
God is with me.

When my day is filled with hope and joy,
God is with me.

PART THREE

A - THE GOSPELS AND ACTS

The word gospel comes from an Old English word "godspel" which means "good news." The good news is that Jesus, God's only begotten Son, died and rose from the dead to free us from our sins. This is the message that gives hope and life to all believers: "He has been raised from the dead, he is going before you" (Matthew 28:7). This life-giving message was recorded in four different books named Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. Each gospel was written by a different author in his own style and from his own point of view. Although Jesus spoke Aramaic, the gospels were written in Greek, the most common language of that time.

It is important to realize that the church came first, then the gospels. This means that the gospels grew out of the oral (spoken) tradition of the church. During his life on earth, Jesus only preached. He did not leave any writings for his followers. After Jesus returned to his Father, the apostles went to all parts of the Roman empire to preach the message of Jesus. The stories and sayings of Jesus they told were remembered by the christian communities in various parts of the empire. In time, the authors of the gospels searched for as many stories about Jesus as they could find and then organized them into books, each presenting a unique portrait of Jesus.

From other early Christian authors we know that there was a collection of sayings of Jesus that existed before the gospels were written. Although this collection has been lost, the sayings themselves most likely were included in the gospels. We know that Jesus said some things that were not recorded in the gospels. For instance, Paul repeated a saying of Jesus: "It is more blessed to give than to receive" (Acts 20:35). This saying is not in the four gospels. Even in the gospels themselves, we read that Jesus said something but it is not recorded. For example, in the story of the raising of Lazarus, Martha told Mary that "the teacher is here and is asking for you" (John 11:28). No such words of Jesus were recorded in this passage. As the author of John said at the end of his gospel, "There are also many other things that Jesus did" (John 21:25).

Matthew, Mark, and Luke draw from the same source which bible experts call Q, from the German word Quelle (source). In general, Matthew and Luke follow the same outline found in Mark. But Matthew and Luke give details about the birth of Jesus, while Mark does not. Because these three gospels are so much alike they are called the synoptic gospels. Synopsis is a Greek word which means "similar." The author of Luke also wrote Acts which gives the account of how the apostles, especially Peter and Paul, spread the gospel after Jesus returned to heaven.

On the other hand, John's gospel was very different than the other three. The author wrote in his own style and included stories that were not recorded in the other gospels. These stories are mentioned in the study of his gospel that follows this introduction. On the other hand, John does not record the parables of Jesus.

There is a lot of discussion about when each of the gospels was written. However, the following dates are acceptable: Mark 65-70 A.D. (before the destruction of Jerusalem), Luke and Acts 80-85 A.D., Matthew 80-90 A.D., and John 95-100 A.D.

Each of the four evangelists has a special symbol that may stand for the ways their gospels begin. Matthew's symbol is a man because his gospel starts with a record of the human family of Jesus. Mark's symbol is a lion. It stands for the voice of John the baptist who roars like a lion in the wilderness. Luke's symbol is an ox since his gospel begins with worship in the temple. John's symbol is an eagle because of the way the words at the beginning of his gospel soar like an eagle. Revelation 4: 6-8 and Ezekiel 1:5-11 also describe these four unusual creatures.

MATTHEW

• History

The gospel of Matthew was not the first gospel to be written, but it is placed before the others because it serves as a bridge between the Old and New Testaments. The very first line of Matthew links Jesus with the Old Testament: “Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham” (1:1). In other words, Jesus came from the line of David and belonged to the family of Abraham. Many Old Testament prophecies pointed to Jesus as the messiah. Matthew also showed Jesus as the new lawgiver, greater than Moses who gave God’s people the law and the covenant at Mount Sinai. The author did this by arranging the gospel into five books, like the first five books of the bible called the Torah, or Law. Matthew noticed that many of the important moments in the ministry of Jesus took place on a mountain. In Chapters 5-7 Jesus gave his “sermon on the mount” where he taught a new law that included the beatitudes. In Chapter 17 Jesus revealed his glory on the mountain with Moses and Elijah beside him. Moses stood for the law and Elijah for the prophets of the Old Testament. Just as God spoke from the cloud on Mount Sinai, he spoke about Jesus: “This is my beloved Son...listen to him” (17:5). The gospel of Matthew showed that Jesus did not come to destroy the old Law. Instead, he used it like a stem to grow the flower of his new law of love: “You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart...you shall love your neighbor as yourself. The whole law and the prophets depend on these two commandments” (Matthew 22:37-40). In Chapter 27 Jesus was lifted up on Calvary and recognized as “the Son of God.” As with all the gospels, Matthew ends with the joyful news: “you are seeking Jesus the crucified. He is not here, for he has been raised, just as he said” (Matthew 28:5).

• Outline of Matthew

Prologue - Chapters 1 to 2 (Jesus is Born)

Book 1 - Chapters 3 to 7 (Jesus Proclaims the Kingdom of God)

Book 2 - Chapters 8 to 10 (Jesus Ministers in Galilee)

Book 3 - Chapters 11 to 13 (Jesus and His Enemies)

Book 4 - Chapters 14 to 18 (Jesus Teaches about the Kingdom and the Church)

Book 5 - Chapters 19 to 25 (Jesus Ministers in Judea and Jerusalem)

Epilogue - Chapters 26 to 28 (Jesus Dies and Rises)

• Passages to Read

The sermon on the mount (Chapter 5:1-20)

No more violence (Chapter 5:38-48)

The power to forgive (Chapter 9)

The final judgment (Chapter 25)

Jesus has been raised (Chapter 28)

• Thoughts for Prayer

“Which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven,’ or to say, ‘Rise and walk?’” (Matthew 9:5).

Teach us to forgive ourselves and others, that we may walk in your peace, Lord.

“Do to others whatever you would have them do to you. This is the law and the prophets” (Matthew 7:12).

Give us the wisdom and courage to live by your golden rule, God.

“Who is my mother? Who are my brothers?” (Matthew 12: 48).

Whoever does the will of your heavenly Father belongs to your family, Lord.

Matthew Study Page

Question 1. “And whoever gives only a cup of cold water...will surely not lose his reward” (Matthew 10:42). God will not forget the smallest kindness. As followers of the gospel what small things can we do?

Question 2. “He had no relations with her until she bore a son, and he named him Jesus” (Matthew 1:25). God asked Joseph to live without sexual relations. How did he find the strength to do this?

Question 3. “I give praise to you, Father...for although you have hidden these things from the wise and learned you have revealed them to the childlike” (Matthew 11:25). Can anyone with an open mind and heart like a child understand the gospel? What does this say about God?

Question 4. “Love your enemies, and pray for those who persecute you, that you may be children of your heavenly Father” (Matthew 5:44-45). When we forgive grudges and hurts, how does it change us?

Question 5. “Everyone who listens to these words of mine and acts on them will be like a wise man who built his house on rock” (Matthew 7:24). What do we build our lives on?

What is your favorite passage in the Book of Matthew and why?

The Beatitudes - Matthew 5:2-12

The Teaching of the Master

In this chapter of Matthew Jesus stands out as the great spiritual master. He challenges his followers to live by a new spirit, “surpassing the holiness” (v.20) of those who just keep the law. He does this over and over again in Chapter 5 as he says: “You have heard...But I say...” (Matthew 5:21, 27, 31, 33, 38, 43). In Matthew 5:2-12, there is a list of teachings given by Jesus called the beatitudes. Some people may think these words seem soft and gentle, but they are really very powerful. If we understand them they cut through our usual way of thinking. If we take them to heart and live by them they will turn our lives upside down. We will never be the same. However, these words of Jesus should not make us sad or afraid to follow him. No one said that being a Christian would be easy. Jesus warned his followers: “If the world hates you, realize that it hated me first” (John 15:18). All that Jesus wants is for us to be really happy. He says: “I have told you this so that my joy might be in you and your joy might be complete” (John 15:11). If we live by the beatitudes we will be living as God the creator lives, as Jesus says at the end of this amazing chapter: “So be perfect, just as your heavenly Father is perfect” (Matthew 5:48).

The Beatitudes

“*Blessed are the poor in spirit,
for theirs is the kingdom of God*” (v.3).

“*Blessed are they who mourn,
for they will be comforted*” (v.4).

“*Blessed are the meek,
for they will inherit the land*” (v.5).

“Blessed are they who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be satisfied” (v.6).

“*Blessed are the merciful,
for they will be shown mercy*” (v.7).

“*Blessed are the clean of heart,
for they will see God*” (v.8).

“Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God” (v.9).

“*Blessed are they who are persecuted for the sake of righteousness,
for theirs is the kingdom of God*” (v.10).

“Blessed are you when they insult you and persecute you and utter every kind of evil against you [falsely] because of me. Rejoice and be glad, for your reward will be great in heaven. Thus they persecuted the prophets who were before you” (v.11-12).

The Meaning of the Beatitudes

The English word blest does not say exactly what Jesus meant. The Hebrew (asre) and Greek (makarios) mean “God’s joy is yours!” It is unlike any joy on earth. It is a God-given joy that no one can take away. It is so deep and strong that no sorrow, loss, or pain can destroy it. It enables us to see everything in life as a gift. God’s joy is yours if you...

- 1) are as gentle with others as God is (v.3)
- 2) are heart-broken at the evil in the world and your sins (v.4)
- 3) humbly face your own weakness (v.5)
- 4) long for holiness more than any hunger or thirst (v.6)
- 5) see others with a merciful mind and heart (v.7)
- 5) serve God and others with no self-interest (v.8)
- 6) make peace with yourself and others (v.9)
- 7) suffer for living according to God’s will (v.10)
- 8) are mistreated for following Christ (v.11-12)

Living by the beatitudes does not mean we are better than others, or escape hardship and struggle. It means we live with joy because God is with us. As followers of Christ we are already live in his kingdom. It begins now and lasts into eternity. This takes courage and strength but God’s Spirit helps us. Otherwise, we could not live this way on our own. As Jesus said: “for God all things are possible” (Matthew 19:26).

MARK

• History

Mark is the shortest of the gospels and probably the first to be written, sometime during 65-70 A.D. The author is known as Mark, a companion of Peter the apostle, who traveled with Peter around the Roman empire after Jesus rose from the dead. During those journeys he wrote down what Peter preached and also added a few stories from other sources. Most likely, he was not the apostle Mark, and never met Jesus personally. Mark wrote his gospel while living in Rome after the death of Peter. This gospel was written with gentiles in mind, that is, people who were not Jews. Mark wants to get the message of Jesus across to people who did not understand Jewish customs. They also may not have read the Old Testament. For this reason, Mark explains Jewish customs (7:3-4, 14:12, 15:42), translates Hebrew words (3:17, 5:41, 7:11, 10:46, 14:36, 15:22, 34), and shows the gospel is meant for gentiles too (7:27, 10:12, 11:17, 13:10). Mark's gospel is like a mystery story with the answer at the end. In each chapter of his book, through the words and deeds of Jesus, he gradually reveals who Jesus is. Jesus explains three times that as the messiah he must suffer and die "but after three days he will rise" (Mark 10:34). However, even the disciples have a hard time understanding the truth. Only at the end of his life after the crucifixion is Jesus completely understood. He is God's suffering servant: "For the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve and to give his life as a ransom for many" (Mark 10:45). It is interesting that a Roman soldier watched how Jesus died and proclaimed: "Truly this man was the Son of God!" (Mark 15:39). Mark originally ended with the account of the empty tomb: "He has been raised; he is not here. Behold, the place where they laid him" (Mark 16:6).

• Outline of Mark

Chapter 1:1-15 (The Prologue)
Chapters 1:16 to 8:21 (Jesus the Healer and Teacher)
Chapters 8:22 to 10:52 (Jesus the Suffering Messiah)
Chapters 11:1 to 13:37 (Jesus in Jerusalem)
Chapters 14:1 to 16:20 (Jesus Dies and Rises from the Dead)

• Passages to Read

Jesus cures a man possessed by a demon (Chapter 1:21-28)
Jesus calms the storm (Chapter 4:35-41)
Jesus reveals the cross and resurrection (Chapter 8:27-38)
Jesus teaches about serving (Chapter 9:33-37)
Peter denies Jesus (Chapter 14:66-72)
Jesus on the cross is the Son of God (Chapter 15:33-38)

• Thoughts for Prayer

"Whoever loses his life for my sake and that of the gospel will save it" (Mark 8:35).
We are saved by the good news of your forgiveness, Lord.

"If anyone wishes to be first, he shall be the last of all and the servant of all" (Mark 9:35).
Give us the strength and courage to serve others like you, God.

"This is my blood of the covenant, which will be shed for many" (Mark 14:24).
By shedding your blood for us, you have set us free from guilt, Lord.

Mark Study Page

Question 1. "The unclean spirit convulsed him and with a loud cry came out of him" (Mark 1:26).
What things can possess us so that we are not free? Are we ready and willing to hand over to the power of Jesus all our problems?

Question 2. "He asked them: 'Why are you terrified? Do you not yet have faith?'" (Mark 4:40).
What makes us afraid? Do we really believe that Jesus can calm our inner storms?

Question 3. "Peter remembered the word that Jesus had said to him...He broke down and wept" (Mark 14:72). Which word of Jesus touches our own heart if we truly let it?

Question 4. "Truly this man was the Son of God!" (Mark 15:39). The soldier realized that Jesus was both man and God. What does this mean for us?

What is your favorite passage in the Book of Mark and why?

LUKE

• History

The author of this gospel may have been Luke the physician (Colossians 4:14) who went with Paul on his journeys among the Gentiles (non-Jews).

He was educated, an excellent writer, but not an eye-witness to the ministry of Jesus. He wrote down what others who knew Jesus told him. However, he may have known Mary the mother of Jesus, because he alone gave more details about the birth and childhood of Jesus than any other gospel. Only Luke has the beautiful song of Mary. Luke wrote his gospel to show that the message of Jesus was meant for the whole world and “that repentance, for the forgiveness of sins, would be preached in his name to all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem” (Luke 24:47). This gospel has been called the “gospel of mercy.” It shows how God’s pardon and peace are meant for all people everywhere, but especially outcasts, the poor, and public sinners. The Gospel of Luke is about “the tender mercy of our God” (Luke 1:78). Only Luke included the stories of the lost sheep, the lost coin, the prodigal son, and the repentant criminal on the cross. In these stories Luke taught that God goes after sinners, and is ready to show them mercy, even at the moment of death. Christians must be ready for the return of Jesus at any time, but Luke focused on the need to follow the risen Jesus day by day. The last chapter of Luke boldly states the good news for believers in every age: “Why do you seek the living one among the dead? He is not here, but has been raised” (Luke 24:5).

• Outline of Luke

Chapter 1:1-4 (Why Luke Wrote the Gospel)

Chapters 1:5 to 2:52 (The Birth and Childhood of Jesus)

Chapters 3:1-4 to 4:13 (Preparation for the Ministry of Jesus)

Chapters 4:14 to 9:50 (Jesus Ministers in Galilee)

Chapters 9:51 to 19:27 (Jesus Heads for Jerusalem)

Chapters 19:28 to 21:38 (Jesus Ministers in Jerusalem)

Chapters 22:1 to 23:56 (Jesus Suffers and Dies)

Chapter 24:1-53 (Jesus Rises from the Dead)

• Passages to Read

God lifts up the lowly (Chapter 1:46-55)

Jesus pardons a sinful woman (Chapter 7:36-50)

Stories of the lost sheep, lost coin, and the lost son (Chapter 15)

Jesus visits a tax collector (Chapter 19:1-10)

The criminal who turned to Jesus (Chapter 23:39-43)

Jesus appears after his death (Chapter 24)

• Thoughts for Prayer

“We must celebrate and rejoice, because your brother was dead and has come to life again; he was lost and has been found” (Luke 15:32). In you we find ourselves and really start to live, Lord.

“The Son of Man has come to seek and to save what was lost” (Luke 19:10).

You do not wait for us, loving God, you come looking for us.

“Were not our hearts burning [within us] while he spoke to us on the way?” (Luke 24:32).

Only you, Lord, can fill our hearts with lasting joy in this life.

Luke Study Page

Question 1. "The Mighty One has done great things for me" (Luke 1:48).
Are we able to become saints through our own ability or because of God's mercy?

Question 2. "He went down with them and came to Nazareth, and was obedient to them" (Luke 2:51).
Jesus spent most of his life waiting to begin his ministry. What can we do with our time?

Question 3. "Her many sins have been forgiven; hence, she has shown great love" (Luke 7:47).
Self-hatred can overwhelm us, but if God forgives us, shouldn't we forgive ourselves?

Question 4. "There will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous people" (Luke 15: 7). If God has a special place in his heart for anyone, who is it?

Question 5. " 'Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom'...' Amen, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise' " (Luke 23: 42-43). How long does it take for us to receive God's mercy?
How does Christ's promise that we too will live with him forever in paradise change us?

JOHN

• History

John was the last of the gospels to be written. It may have been written by John the beloved disciple who is mentioned in it, or by someone who knew John and recorded his memories of Jesus and the gospel. It is dated toward the end of the first century (90-100 A.D.). John is very different than Matthew, Mark and Luke. It is written in a very different style and does not follow the same outline of events as the other three gospels. It also has sayings and stories that are not in the other gospels. More than any other gospel, John has what are called the “I am” sayings of Jesus, which point to him as God. One example is: “I am he, the one who is speaking with you” (4:26). Others are: “I am the bread of life” (6:35), “I am the way and the truth and the life” (14:6). Only John has stories like the wedding at Cana where Jesus turns water into wine (2:1-11), the healing of the blind man (9:1-41), the raising of Lazarus from the dead (11:1-44). The gospel of John could be called the gospel of signs and symbols, because the author uses so many of them to explain the gospel. John uses ideas like light and darkness, bread and hunger, water and thirst, truth and lies, life and death. John describes Jesus as true bread (John 6:28-35), living water (John 7:37-39), light of the world (John 8:12), and good shepherd (John 10:7-13). This gospel ends with the story of how the risen Jesus questioned and forgave Peter: “Do you love me?” (John 21:15-19). It is a question that the risen Jesus asks everyone who wishes to follow him. For John to love God is to live forever.

• Outline of John

Chapter 1:1-18 (Prologue - Light Shines in the Darkness as the Word Becomes Flesh)
Chapters 1:19 to 12:50 (The Book of Signs)
Chapters 13:1 to 20:31 (The Book of Glory)
Chapter 21:1-25 (Epilogue - Jesus Appears to Peter and the Disciples)

• Passages to Read

Water is turned into wine (Chapter 2:1-11)
Jesus gives life-giving water (Chapter 4:1-42)
Jesus is our bread of life (Chapter 6:22-71)
A blind man is healed (Chapter 9:1-41)
A dead man is raised (Chapter 11:1-44)
Peter is forgiven (Chapter 21:15-19)

• Thoughts for Prayer

“No one has ever seen God. The only Son, God, who is at the Father’s side, has revealed him” (John 1:18).
As each day passes, help us know you better, Lord.

“I give you a new commandment: love one another. As I have loved you, so you also should love one another” (John 13:34). We can love because you first loved us, God.

“This is how all will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another” (John 13:35).
Help us make a difference in the lives of those around us, Lord

“Come see a man who told me everything I have done. Could he possibly be the Messiah?” (John 4:29).
You know all about us yet you love us, God.

John Study Page

Question 1. “When Jesus heard that they had thrown him out, he found him and said: ‘Do you believe in the Son of Man?’ ” (John 9:35). Even if no one else respects us, how does Jesus treat us?

Question 2. “As a result of this, many [of] his disciples returned to their former way of life and no longer accompanied him” (John 6:66). As Catholics, do we believe that the bread and wine really become the body and blood of Christ in the Eucharist?

Question 3. “He cried out in a loud voice, ‘Lazarus, come out!’ The dead man came out, tied hand and foot...Jesus said to them, ‘Untie him and let him go’ ” (John 11:43-44).
When we feel tangled up in old mistakes and bad habits, is Jesus able to set us free?

Question 4. “If I, therefore, the master and teacher, have washed your feet, you ought to wash one another’s feet. (John 13:14-15). What are some ways that we can follow this example of Jesus?

Why is the Gospel of John called a book of signs? What are some of them?

ACTS OF THE APOSTLES

• History

Acts, or Acts of the Apostles, was written by the same person who wrote the gospel of Luke. Luke was a Syrian from Antioch, a doctor, and the companion of Paul the apostle. Acts is the story of how the church began and spread. Just as he promised, Jesus sent the Holy Spirit to his disciples in the great event called Pentecost. From that day they boldly preached the good news about “God raised this Jesus; of this we are all witnesses” (Acts 2:32). The hardships of the apostles actually helped them preach and spread the message of Christ. Even the death of Stephen by stoning helped spread the gospel because Paul, the future apostle, was a witness to it (Acts 7:58 and 22:20). As the early Christians said: “the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church.” Paul changed from an enemy of the church to one of its greatest apostles. With Paul’s arrest and trip to Rome even more people heard about the gospel. Acts shows how the work of Jesus continued through his disciples. The Holy Spirit worked through the followers of Jesus as the ordinary way to spread the gospel. Luke used numbers to remind his readers that something was important. Paul’s conversion was told three times (Acts 9:1-22; 22:1-21; 26:1-23). The life of the early Christians was described three times (Acts 2:42-47; 4:32-35; 9:31). Peter’s conversion of the Roman centurion was repeated three times (Acts 10; 11:1-18; 15:7-11). The church held its first council in Jerusalem (Acts 15:19-21; 15:28-29; 21:25). Paul preached to the Jews first, then the gentiles (Acts 13:46-47; 18:5-6; 28:22-28), but always the same message: “they took him down from the tree and placed him in a tomb. But God raised him from the dead” (Acts 13:29-30). Acts ends with Paul as a prisoner in Rome.

“You will receive power when the holy Spirit comes upon you, and you will be my witnesses” (Acts 1:8).
Wherever we are, whomever we meet, your Spirit empowers us to be witnesses, Lord.

“During the night, the angel of the Lord opened the doors of the prison, [and] let them out” (Acts 5:19).
Even when we are confined, you can make us free, God.

“I myself once thought that I had to do many things against the name of Jesus” (Acts 26:9).
No matter what we did in the past, we can still be your apostles, Lord.

Question 1. "Why are you standing there looking at the sky?" (Acts 1:11). When Jesus returned to heaven, angels told the disciples to spread his gospel. How can we start doing the same?

Question 2. "He fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to him, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?'" (Acts 9:4). Has God ever brought you down so you could return to your senses? Why does Jesus accuse Paul of hurting him when he hurts others?

Question 3. "He tried to join the disciples, but they were all afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple" (Acts 9:26). Like Paul, how do we feel when those we have hurt do not believe we have changed?

Question 4. "To him all the prophets bear witness, that everyone who believes in him will receive forgiveness of sins through his name" (Acts 10:43). In a few short words Peter explained the whole gospel. How do these words change our lives?

Question 5. "We must help the weak, and keep in mind the words of the Lord Jesus himself who said: 'It is more blessed to give than to receive' " (Acts 20:35). Why did Jesus say it is better to give than to receive? What happens when we do this?

The Bible, the Church and the Pope

There are four signs that mark the Catholic church as the one Christ founded.

One: It is one because all its members are one in faith, share in the same seven sacraments, in the one sacrifice of the Mass, and are guided by one leader (2 Peter 1:1). This visible leader of the church is the pope who is the successor of Peter, the apostle that Jesus chose to be the rock of the church (Matthew 16:13-19). This teaching authority keeps the church from error by the guidance of the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of truth. This unity was the final prayer of Christ himself: “that they may all be one” (John 17:21).

Holy: It is holy because Jesus who is its head is holy, the Spirit that Jesus sent strengthens us to be holy, and the church invites all human beings to live a holy life (John 6:69, John 16:7-8, and Hebrews 12:14). It also has been said that the church is holy because all of its members, although sinners, are forgiven: “They shall be called the holy people” (Isaiah 62:12). This is a holiness which all of us can have. That is why the bible refers to Christ’s followers as “saints” because they have been healed by God (saint comes from the Latin word sanus which means whole or healthy).

Catholic: It is catholic (which means universal) because it has the truth which it shares in every time and with every nation on earth (Matthew 28:19-20 and 1 Timothy 3:15). It is the world-wide mission of the church to bring the gospel to all people (Mark 16:15). It is universal in its liturgy, the Mass, which people can attend anywhere in the world and feel at home.

Apostolic: It is apostolic because it is faithful to the teaching of the apostles and therefore stands on the apostles as its foundation (Ephesians 2:20). In this way the church remains faithful to the truth through Christ who leads it through Peter and the apostles. Their successors are the pope and the bishops who lead with him. When the pope speaks from the chair of Peter (ex cathedra) he teaches Christ’s followers on matters of faith and morals without error, that is, infallibly.

Peter the First Pope:

It is clear from the bible that Peter was given a special role in the church. When the names of the apostles are given, Peter is always placed first. More than all the other apostles, Peter is mentioned in the New Testament 195 times. After Peter, John’s name is mentioned only 29 times. Besides Matthew 16:13-19 quoted above, many other bible passages show that immediately after the death and resurrection of Jesus, Peter acted as the head of the apostles and the entire christian community. Non-Catholics find it hard to believe that Christ chose Peter as the first pope, but it is in the bible!

In Mark 8:29 and Luke 9:20, Peter is the first apostle to say to Jesus: “You are the Messiah!”

In Mark 16:7 the angel at the empty tomb mentions only Peter by name: “Go and tell his disciples and Peter...”

The transfiguration described in Luke 9:28-36 mentions “Peter and his companions...” Only Peter speaks to Christ, “Master, it is good that we are here” (v.33).

In Luke 24:33 the risen Christ appears to Peter first, then to the rest of the apostles.

In John 6:67-68, after many disciples left Jesus, Peter speaks for the others: “Jesus then said to the Twelve, ‘Do you also want to leave?’ Simon Peter answered him... ‘We have come to believe...’”

John 21:15-19 described how the risen Jesus tells Peter “Tend my sheep...Feed my sheep” calling him to care for his flock, the church.

Acts 1:13 “When they entered the city they went to the upper room where they were staying, Peter and John and James...” As usual, Peter is mentioned first followed by the other apostles.

Acts 1:15 “Peter stood up in the midst of the brothers...” Peter is at the center speaking for all.

In Acts 2:14 after the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the church, Peter stands up to speak for the whole group: “Peter stood up with the Eleven, raised his voice, and proclaimed to them...” Like every Pope who has followed after him, Peter spoke as the head of the church with the help of the Holy Spirit.

PART THREE

B - THE LETTERS AND REVELATION

After the four Gospels and Acts, there are 21 letters in the New Testament. These letters are also called epistles (from the Greek word epistolé, a message or letter). These letters show us what the early christian community (church) was like and the problems that it had to deal with. The letters were written to answer questions, to settle differences, or solve problems. Many of these questions and problems are things that trouble christians in any age, so the letters continue to have great value even in our day. They contain many basic teachings of the Christian faith: Christ's death has freed us from our sins, faith in Christ brings us new life, the need for repentance and baptism in following Christ, the church as the body of Christ, the true body and blood of Christ shared in the breaking of the bread (Eucharist), the Spirit who guides the church and gives the gifts needed to help the church grow, the return of Christ at the end of time when he will overcome the enemy and gather his people from the living and the dead.

Fourteen of the letters are called Pauline, meaning they were written by Paul or written in his name. Paul's letters were written before the gospels, so they are the oldest christian writings. They start somewhere between 50 to 60 A.D. The letters to the churches are placed first, followed by those to individuals. In Romans and Galatians Paul dealt with the problems between Jewish and non-Jewish (gentile) Christians about how each group should live the christian life in different ways. 1 and 2 Corinthians were written to people who lived in a very sinful city and had a hard time deciding what was right or how to remain strong and keep away from sin. It is important to point out that 1 Corinthians 15:3-8 gives the earliest witness to the resurrection of Jesus from the dead: "Last of all, ...he appeared to me" (v.8). The question of how to live if the "end was near" and Christ was returning was dealt with in 1 and 2 Thessalonians. This became a problem for the early church because some Christians thought that Christ would return during their lifetime. As time went on, however, it became clear that Christ was not coming immediately, but would return at a time known only to God. Four of Paul's letters are called "captivity" letters. They were written while he was a prisoner: Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon. Three are called the "pastoral" letters (1 and 2 Timothy and Titus) because they were written to individual leaders of the church rather than to entire groups. These leaders are given special advice on how to deal with the Christians in their spiritual care. Hebrews is placed last in the collection of Paul's letters. Bible experts are not sure that Paul wrote it because it has a very different style of writing. Nevertheless, it contains many of Paul's basic teachings.

Aside from Peter, Paul was one of the most important figures of the early church. As Acts records, he started out killing Christians because he thought they were a disgrace to God and a danger to true religion. After Jesus knocked him to the ground in a blinding light, he was baptized and became a follower of the "way" as the church was often called. Eventually he became the apostle to the gentiles who did not follow Jewish customs as the Jewish christians did. These customs involved temple worship and sacrifices, circumcision, ritual washings of their bodies and food, avoiding certain foods as unclean, and following the holy days of the Jewish calendar. At first, this caused a lot of confusion in the early church. This problem finally was solved at a special gathering of apostles and leaders called the Council of Jerusalem. After that, it was clear that gentile Christians did not have to follow Jewish customs, but Jewish christians were free to continue as they wished. Since then the church has held councils, like the Council of Nicea in 325 A.D. or Vatican II in our day, whenever it needed to deal with important matters.

Some New Testament letters were written by the same person, so they are placed together in groups, like 1 and 2 Peter; and 1, 2, and 3 John. In these cases the longest letter is placed first. James and Jude may be short letters, but like the others they are full of spiritual insight and advice. Revelation is the last book of the New Testament and the Bible. It also may be the last to be written around 90-100 A.D. It was written to give courage to Christians who were suffering and facing death for their faith in Christ. It taught that the same Christ who suffered and rose victorious from the dead was leading them to spiritual victory in the midst of their own hardships.

ROMANS

• History

Paul wrote his letter to the Romans in 57 A.D. while he was staying in Corinth. He wrote to the Christians living in Rome because he was planning to visit them. He knew many of them by name and mentioned them in Chapter 16. However, before he got there he was arrested in Jerusalem for preaching the gospel and was put in prison.

When he finally arrived in Rome much later in 61 A.D. he still was a prisoner waiting for trial. He lived under house arrest "with the soldier who was guarding him" (Acts 28:16). Although Paul wrote his letter to the Christians, he also was thinking about the many Jews who lived in Rome. Only a handful accepted Christ as the Messiah. The rest rejected him. This disappointed Paul very much because they were his own race: "I too am an Israelite, a descendant of Abraham" (Romans 11:1). Paul explained that God was still faithful to his covenant with the Jews, and he hoped that one day they would accept Christ. Romans is a very long letter, but the main point Paul wanted to make was that the gospel was "the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes" (Romans 1:16). Paul also explained that human beings, whether Jews or Gentiles, were spiritually lost and unable to save themselves. Only God's great love could save humanity from its wrongdoing and rebellion against God. God's answer to human failure was to give his Son, Jesus Christ, as the savior of all: "he who did not spare his own Son but handed him over for us all" (Romans 8:32). Paul taught that Jesus is the outpouring of God's love and the unfolding of his plan to save humanity. This plan had been "kept secret for long ages" but now revealed in Jesus (Romans 16:25).

Question 1. “Just as through one transgression condemnation came upon all, so through one righteous act acquittal and life came to all” (Romans 5:18). Beginning with Adam, each of us has sinned, but the charges against us were dropped. Jesus was sentenced for us. How much are we loved, then?

Question 2. “He was empowered by faith and gave glory to God and was fully convinced that what [God] had promised he was also able to do” (Romans 4:20-21). Abraham trusted God totally. If we do not believe in God’s promise, who else is able to save us?

Question 3. “I do not do what I want, but I do what I hate” (Romans 7:15). Do Paul’s words describe what it is like to be a weak human being? What is the solution to this problem?

Question 4. “If you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved” (Romans 10:9). Is Paul saying that faith is only a matter of what we say, or does it show itself in how we behave?

1 CORINTHIANS

• History

Paul wrote 1 Corinthians around 56 A.D. to answer a letter this new christian community had written to him. He knew the christians of Corinth well, because he had lived with them and taught them the gospel. Paul's letter gives an inside view of life in the early church.

These new christians had a lot of questions about their new faith, and needed guidance with problems that were beginning to divide them. After Paul left they began to form groups loyal to different teachers. Paul reminded them that he brought them the gospel and that unity was the true spirit of Christ. Some thought that as followers of Christ they should not get married. Paul praised marriage and those who did not marry for spiritual reasons. All christians belonged to the body of Christ and should live morally. Others were worried about buying meat in the market that had been used in pagan worship. Paul told them not to worry because idols were lifeless anyway. It was more important not to worship idols. Paul also taught them how to behave when they gathered to celebrate the Lord's supper. He scolded them for being disorderly, and reminded them that they shared the true body and blood of Christ. He also reminded them that together they were the body of Christ, and that the gifts each had were meant to build up this body. However, he told them that the greatest gift was love for one another. 1 Corinthians 13 on love is one of Paul's most beautiful passages. In Chapter 15 Paul wrote with great conviction about the victory over death that each of us has in the resurrection.

Question 1. “Do you not know that your body is a temple of the holy Spirit within you?” (1 Corinthians 6:19). Since our bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, how should we treat them?

Question 2. “If I have all faith so as to move mountains, but do not have love, I am nothing” (1 Corinthians 13:2). What kind of love is Paul talking about? When we face our final judgment, what will we be judged on?

Question 3. “The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a participation in the blood of Christ? The bread that we break, is it not a participation in the body of Christ?” (1 Corinthians 10:16). Why does the Catholic church believe that the Eucharist is really the body and blood of Christ?

Question 4. “If [one] part suffers, all the parts suffer with it; if one part is honored, all the parts share its joy” (1 Corinthians 12:26). Does this teaching on the body of Christ change the way you see others?

2 CORINTHIANS

• History

2 Corinthians may in fact be a combination of several letters which were sent at different times. After Paul wrote his first letter to the Christians of Corinth he learned that they were still having serious problems. “False teachers” were challenging his authority as an apostle. In an effort to defend his ministry and win them to his side, Paul describes his life as an apostle. It has cost him his health and safety many times. Because he shared his feelings of anger, frustration, and love so openly, this letter is a clear view of his mind and heart: “We have spoken frankly to you, Corinthians; our heart is open wide” (2 Corinthians 6:11). It shows how human Paul was, and how deeply he loved Christ and the gospel. Although he was willing to suffer greatly for his ministry, he also was not afraid to take a stand and defend himself against his accusers. This letter also helps us realize that the early church was not perfect. The church had problems then, just as it has problems now. However, the same Spirit has been guiding the church like a ship through troubled waters. Paul’s example in the face of opposition gives us hope and courage as we face our own problems as members of the Christian community today. Paul’s final words are used today at the beginning of Mass: “The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God and the fellowship of the holy Spirit be with all of you” (2 Corinthians 13:13).

Question 1. "So whoever is in Christ is a new creation: the old things have passed away; behold, new things have come" (2 Corinthians 5:17). Are we stuck in our past, or do we really believe that God has forgiven us and can give us a new beginning if we give ourselves to him?

Question 2. "Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom" (2 Corinthians 3:17). How can we be free even when we are confined?

Question 3. "...God was reconciling the world to himself in Christ, not counting their trespasses against them and entrusting to us the message of reconciliation" (2 Corinthians 5:19). After we have hurt or neglected others, how can we bring reconciliation to them?

GALATIANS

• History

Galatia was a part of the Roman empire (in central Turkey) that Paul had visited some years before he wrote this letter. While he was there he successfully preached the gospel and left behind a large Christian community. Later, Paul wrote Galatians because he found out that they were listening to misguided people. Some Jewish Christians were teaching them that who ever accepted the gospel must keep the old laws of Moses also. It is clear from the way he wrote, that Paul was very upset by this. He tried every way he could think of to help the Galatians realize the spiritual danger they were in. He even tried shocking them to their senses: “O stupid Galatians! who has bewitched you?” (Galatians 3:1). His motive was love for them and for Christ, and his only goal was to bring them back to a true understanding of the gospel. Step by step he carefully explained that God’s grace is a gift, and that following Christ means living in the freedom of the Spirit. Paul wanted the Galatians to know that just keeping religious rules and rituals (something he called works) could never make a person holy. God expected more than that. God wanted their hearts and their faith in Christ his only Son.

“For freedom Christ set us free; so stand firm and do not submit again to the yoke of slavery” (Galatians 5: 1).
Never again will anyone or anything keep us from the freedom that belongs to those you created and saved, Lord.

“Bear one another’s burdens, and so you will fulfill the law of Christ” (Galatians 6: 2).
When we share the burden of others along the road of life, our own burden gets lighter, God.

“Let us not grow tired of doing good, for in due time we shall reap our harvest, if we do not give up” (Galatians 6:9).
Give us the strength to keep on going good even when we feel like giving up, Lord.

Question 1. "You have come to know God, or rather to be known by God"(Galatians 4:9). Since God is so much greater than us and is all around us, did we find God or did God find us?

Question 2. "You were called for freedom...serve one another through love" (Galatians 5:13). A flower is made to bloom, a bird to fly. As human beings created and redeemed by God what are we free to do?

Question 3. "...the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, generosity, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control. Against such there is no law" (Galatians 5:22-23). There are a lot of people who say they are christian but how can we tell if someone is really following Christ?

Question 4. "If you go on biting and devouring one another, beware that you are not consumed by one another" (Galatians 5:15). Are God's commands only so that we give him respect, or are they also for our own good?

EPHESIANS

• History

Ephesus was the third largest city in ancient Roman times, with a famous temple dedicated to the goddess Artemis. Her temple had hundreds of prostitutes as part of the pagan worship. The city was like a tourist center that attracted crowds of people to its stadium, theaters, and libraries. Paul spent almost 3 years in Ephesus preaching the gospel and starting a christian community there. Eventually, Paul's ministry was so successful that it became bad for the city's business. There was a riot among the business people because their sales of pagan souvenirs were down. As a result he was forced to leave the city. This is described in more detail in Acts, 18-20. Ephesians is the first of four captivity letters written by Paul (Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon). They are called this because Paul wrote them while he was a prisoner. In each letter there are words like "I, Paul, a prisoner of Christ" (Ephesians 3:1). This letter points out the need for the christians of Ephesus to live in unity as followers of Christ. Once again, Paul was trying to correct the idea that some Jewish christians had that new converts should follow the ancient laws of Moses. While Paul stressed the spirit of freedom that christians enjoy, he also explained that freedom was not an excuse to do whatever they pleased. True freedom meant that they had the chance to do good to others. Their freedom from sin and the customs of Moses meant they were free to serve those in need. Christians are called to be free because they are loved by God, as Paul put it: "Live in love, as Christ loved us" (Ephesians 5:2).

Question 1. “Living the truth in love, we should grow in every way into him who is the head, Christ” (Ephesians 4:15). What does it mean to live the truth in love like Christ?

Question 2. “Watch carefully then how you live, not as foolish persons but as wise, making the most of the opportunity” (Ephesians 5:15-16). How will we spend our time? Will we resist God’s grace, or will we open ourselves to change and spiritually grow?

Question 3. “Pray at every opportunity in the Spirit” (Ephesians 6:18).
Is there any time or place in our day or in our lives, that we cannot pray to God?

Question 4. “To me, the very least of all his holy ones, this grace was given, to preach” (Ephesians 3:8).
Is it in spite of, or because of, the mistakes we’ve made that we are called to spread the gospel?

PHILIPPIANS

• History

Philippi was a large city in northern Greece (Macedonia) located along a major supply road between the eastern and western parts of the Roman empire. It was named after Philip, the father of Alexander the Great. Like many cities of the empire it had theaters, baths, temples and a forum—a place in the center of the city where people sold things and took care of business. In Paul's day, it was a favorite place for soldiers to retire. Philippians is the second of the captivity letters. In it Paul described how the gospel was being spread even while he was in prison (Philippians 1:12). Paul encourages Christians in any circumstance to believe that in spite of their failings and weaknesses, or even because of them the gospel will advance. Paul also warned Christians to remain strong in the face of what was coming (See Philippians 1:27-30). For the Philippians in their day it was persecution. For Christians today it means the promise to follow Christ will be tested while living among others who don't believe and whose values are often anti-Christian. Paul wanted them to remain faithful to the gospel he taught them and avoid false teachers. Furthermore, Paul did not want the Philippians to focus on their differences but on Christ who gives them joy and courage. He encouraged the Christians and their women leaders to work as partners not rivals. Like Paul they could face anything with the strength that Christ gave them (See Philippians 4:13).

Striving for spiritual maturity (Chapter 3:12-16)

True joy and peace (Chapter 4:4-9)

• Thoughts for Prayer

"...I hold you in my heart, you who are all partners with me in grace, both in my imprisonment and in the defense and confirmation of the gospel" (Philippians 1:7). As your partners, help us defend and strengthen your gospel, Lord.

"...my situation has turned out rather to advance the gospel..." (Philippians 1:12). Help us understand that no matter who we are or where we are, we can promote your good news, God.

*"...he humbled himself,
becoming obedient to death,
even death on a cross"* (Philippians 2:8).

Give us an obedient heart—one that really listens to you, Lord.

Question 1. "The brothers, having taken encouragement in the Lord from my imprisonment, dare more than ever to proclaim the word fearlessly" (Philippians 1:14). How can your time behind bars be spent giving encouragement to others and helping them to spread the gospel?

Question 2. "You are standing firm in one spirit, with one mind struggling together for the faith of the gospel, not intimidated in any way by your opponents" (Philippians 1:27-28). Where do we get the strength to stand firm against the influence of those who do not accept or understand the gospel?

Question 3. "Forgetting what lies behind but straining forward to what lies ahead, I continue my pursuit toward the goal, the prize of God's upward calling" (Philippians 3:13-14). Paul kept his "eyes on the prize." What did Jesus mean in (Luke 9:62) about those who look "to what was left behind"?

Question 4. "I even consider everything as a loss because of the supreme good of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord" (Philippians 3:8). How will we handle it when others ignore us or make fun of us for walking with Jesus as our friend and master?

COLOSSIANS

• History

The city of Colossae, 100 miles east of Ephesus, had been a large trading center at one time. At the time of this letter it was a much poorer city. As can happen when times are hard, people begin to look for help and are a target for so-called easy answers. Epaphras, who brought the gospel to the people of this area, contacted Paul to ask for his support and advice about a problem that was threatening the spiritual lives of his community. In reply, Paul wrote Colossians, the third of the captivity letters, to combat the false ideas that were troubling these new Christians. Some confused teachers were telling them to stay away from certain kinds of foods and drink. They also told them to be fearful of the power of spirits, even angels, and that the stars and planets had power over their lives. If we compared this problem with our day, it might be like using Tarot cards, horoscopes, psychics or contacting the dead to decide how to live our lives. Paul encouraged the Colossians to stand firm in the gospel. He reminded them that they would not find salvation in other things. People were sadly confused if they focused on spirits or powers rather than Christ who was above any power in heaven and on earth. Colossians has been called one of the most Christ-centered books of the bible. It calls the reader to a deeper understanding of Christ as the head of creation and redemption. In Ephesians Paul focused on the body of Christ. In Colossians he concentrated on Christ as the head. Paul wanted Christ to be first in every part of their lives (Colossians 3:1-4). As he ended his letter Paul showed his human side. He hoped that they would not forget about him in prison. He said to them: “Remember my chains” (Colossians 4:18). This shows that everyone, even one of the greatest apostles, needs the spiritual support of other Christians. Scholars tell us that the number of Christians in Colossae may have been very small. If so, it reminds us that it is not how many people belong to our group but how deep our faith is!

• Thoughts for Prayer

“Think of what is above” (Colossians 3:2). Help us see everything in the light of eternity, believing that there is something greater than this world, Lord.

“Whatever you do, in word or in deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God” (Colossians 3:17). Everything in our lives can be an offering and a prayer to you, God.

“Put to death, then, the parts of you that are earthly: immorality, impurity, passion, evil desire, and the greed that is idolatry” (Colossians 3:5). Living the gospel is serious business. We have a lot to face when we hand our lives over to you, Lord.

Question 1. “Persevere in the faith, firmly grounded, stable, and not shifting from the hope of the gospel that you heard” (Colossians 1:23). Who or what else can be the foundation of our lives?

Question 2. “He delivered us from the power of darkness and transferred us to the kingdom of his beloved Son, in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins” (Colossians 1:13-14). If someone asks us what redemption means, what four simple words can we use to explain it?

Question 3. “See to it that no one captivates you with an empty, seductive philosophy...the elemental powers of the world and not according to Christ” (Colossians 2:8). How many times have the promises or threats of others ended up not being what we needed for a better life?

Question 4. “Now you must put them all away: anger, fury, malice, slander, and obscene language out of your mouths. Stop lying to one another since you have taken off your old self...and have put on the new self” (Colossians 3:8-10). Paul leaves no doubt about behavior that has no place in Christ’s way of life. Which ones do we need to work on the most?

1 & 2 THESSALONIANS

• History

After Paul set foot in Greece for the first time, in about 50 A.D., he preached the gospel in Philippi and then Thessalonica—the capital city of the province. It was located on the main supply road leading to Rome. This area had a large Jewish population, including many non-Jews who were fed up with pagan religion and also worshiped the God of Israel. Paul gained many converts to Christianity from among this mix of people. However, his success also made problems for Paul. Many Jews and gentiles were so upset with Paul for drawing people away from their worship services that they made it impossible for him to stay there. When Paul moved on to other cities in Greece, he placed the new Christian community under the direction of faithful leaders, Silvanus and Timothy. More details about this story can be found in Acts 15-18. About a year later in 51 A.D., Paul wrote to the Christian community he left behind. This makes 1 Thessalonians the earliest writing of the New Testament, less than twenty years after the death of Jesus. It is not clear exactly when 2 Thessalonians was written, possibly much later by a disciple of Paul. Both letters are studied together here because they are addressed to the same community. Also, both letters deal with a topic: the final (or second) coming of Christ. For many Christians of the early church, this became a concern because they expected Christ to return very soon, in their lifetime. Some members were being frightened by the predictions of others. Others even quit working, because they believed the end was so near. Paul wrote that no one knows when Christ will return: “The day of the Lord will come like a thief at night” (1 Thessalonians 5:2). In the meantime, Christians should remain calm, and continue to pray and do good works. A key passage in 2 Thessalonians upholds the Catholic church’s teaching about scripture and tradition: “stand firm and hold fast to the traditions that you were taught, either by an oral statement or by a letter” (2 Thessalonians 2:15). In other words, there are two ways that Christians learn about the faith. Some things were handed down to us by spoken word (teaching). Other we learn by written word (the Bible). This is why the Catholic church talks about its teaching authority, which stands with and supports the bible.

Question 1. "You became imitators of us and of the Lord, receiving the word in great affliction, with joy from the holy Spirit, so that you became a model for all the believers (1 Thessalonians 1:6-7).

What are some afflictions that make us ready to listen to God's message?

Question 2. "As we were judged worthy by God to be entrusted with the gospel, that is how we speak, not as trying to please human beings, but rather God, who judges our hearts" (1 Thessalonians 2:4). When others give us a hard time because we try to live by the gospel, what are some ways we can deal with them?

Question 3. "From hearing us, you received not a human word but, as it truly is, the word of God, which is now at work in you who believe" (1 Thessalonians 2:13). Who taught us the gospel?

Were they giving us their own message or was it God's? How do we know?

Question 4. "May you entirely, spirit, soul, and body, be preserved blameless for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. The one who calls you is faithful, and will also accomplish it" (1 Thessalonians 5:23-24).

Are we ready for Christ when he comes? What can we do to get ready?

1 & 2 TIMOTHY

• History

Three books (1 Timothy, 2 Timothy, and Titus) are called the pastoral letters of Paul because they were written to Christian leaders or pastors rather than to the whole community. Pastor is Latin for shepherd. They were written at a time when the apostles like Paul were getting old or dying. New leaders were needed to take their place. These letters help us understand the needs of the early christian community and how important it was to have good spiritual leaders. These letters show that imposition of hands was used to ordain leaders, but that titles were different than they are today. The words bishop and presbyter were used for the same position, men and women were deacons. Widows as a special group lived a life dedicated to prayer, much like nuns today. These letters show that things were not perfect in the time of the apostles, just as they are not perfect now. Timothy's name turns up often in Paul's other letters (2 Corinthians, Philippians, Colossians, 1 and 2 Thessalonians, and Philemon). His life as Paul's friend and missionary also is described in Acts 14:8-20 and 16:1-3). As an old man, Paul was concerned that Timothy give sound teaching to those in his care: "[hold] fast to the mystery of the faith" (1 Timothy 3:9). He told Timothy to be "nourished on the words of the faith and of the sound teaching" (1 Timothy 4:6). Paul ends this first letter with a final warning: "Whoever teaches something different...does not not agree with the sound words of our Lord Jesus Christ and the religious teaching" (1 Timothy 6:3). He told Timothy to remember his example and to stay strong in his faith even in trying times. Then as now, some people have strayed from the faith: "O Timothy, guard what has been entrusted to you" (1 Timothy 6:20). 2 Timothy was written while Paul was on death row waiting to be executed. In this very personal letter Paul handed on his role as a leader and teacher of the gospel: "I have competed well; I have finished the race; I have kept the faith" (2 Timothy 4:7).

Question 1. "I was mercifully treated, so that in me, as the foremost, Christ Jesus might display all his patience as an example for those who would come to believe in him for everlasting life" (1 Timothy 1:16).

How can even our sins and failures serve God's purposes?

Question 2. "I am suffering, even to the point of chains, like a criminal. But the word of God is not chained" (2 Timothy 2:9). Are man-made walls thick enough to block out God's message of love for all persons?

Question 3. "The time of my departure is at hand. I have competed well; I have finished the race; I have kept the faith" (2 Timothy 4:6-7). What will we be able to say about our love for God and others when it is time to face our own death?

Question 4. "For God did not give us a spirit of cowardice but rather of power and love and self-control" (2 Timothy 1:7). Why do some people think that Christian love is weakness?

What is true courage? What does it have to do with self-control?

TITUS

• History

Like 1 & 2 Timothy, Titus is one of the pastoral letters that Paul wrote to the leaders or pastors of the christian community. It also was written before 67 A.D., the year Paul was executed in Rome. Titus is mentioned in 2 Corinthians and 2 Timothy as one of Paul's faithful companions. He traveled with Paul on many trips bringing the message of Christ to people living in various parts of the empire. This letter was sent to Titus while he was staying on the island of Crete. He was sent there by Paul to appoint leaders of the Christian community "in every town" (Titus 1:5). Paul described to Titus what the chosen leaders must be like. He also told Titus how to deal with false teachers—a serious problem on Crete. After focusing on the leaders, Paul turned to the ways that Christians behave. He explained how they ought to treat one another as Christians, and how they should live honestly as members of society.

Paul knew what life on Crete was like. He quoted one of their own ancient poets named Epimenides: "Cretans have always been liars..." (Titus 1:12). Today we would say Paul called it like he saw it. However, Paul also was willing to criticize himself: "For we ourselves were once foolish, disobedient...slaves to various desires and pleasures..." (Titus 3:3). As he was in his other letters, Paul was very concerned about protecting sound doctrine and teaching the faith correctly. He wanted to protect the followers of Christ from those who did not understand the gospel. He mentioned this often throughout his letter, especially regarding bishops who were told to hold "fast to the true message as taught" (1:9). He told Titus: "As for yourself, you must say what is consistent with sound doctrine" (Titus 2:1). His final advice is stern: "After a first and second warning, break off contact with a heretic" (Titus 3:10). Paul did not want the Christian converts to be led by those who were spiritually blind themselves. We would say he used tough love.

The Bible and the Sacraments of the Catholic Church

We enter the church and continue to live in it through 7 sacred actions. These are the sacraments that Christ gave to his followers. They are signs that bring us to Christ and his saving grace. The purpose of the sacraments is to help us 1) grow together in holiness, 2) minister to others in need, and 3) worship God. The bible is full of passages about them. Old Testament passages point to them, New Testament passages reveal how Christ used material things like water, bread and wine to heal, feed and strengthen those who believed in him.

1. Through BAPTISM we are born again into God's family (John 3:5-7). We are cleansed of sin (1 Peter 3:24) as we promise to follow Christ, not Satan (James 4:7).

Baptism in the Bible: Ezekiel 36:25, Matthew 28:19, Mark 1:9-11, John 4:14, Romans 6:3-4, 1 Corinthians 12:13, Galatians 3:27-28, Ephesians 4:5.

2. Through CONFIRMATION we are given power by the Holy Spirit to witness to the gospel (Luke 24:49), and serve his church generously (Acts 1:8). This sacrament helps us pray, love God's word (Colossians 3:16), serve others and witness to Christ in the world (Romans 5:5).

Confirmation in the Bible: Isaiah 11:2, Isaiah 61:1, Ezekiel 36:26, Joel 3:1, Mark 1:10, Luke 4:18, John 7:38, Acts 8:17, Romans 8:26, 1 Corinthians 12:4-7, Ephesians 1:13.

3. Through the EUCCHARIST we receive the body and blood of Christ (Matthew 26:26-28). The bread and wine we offer are changed into Christ's body and blood in memory of him. This real presence of Christ in the Mass and in our church tabernacles unites us to him, each other and all God's people (1 Corinthians 10:16-17).

Eucharist in the Bible: Exodus 24:8, Deuteronomy 8:3, 1 Kings 19:8, Mark 14:22-24, Luke 24:35, John 6:51-55, Acts 2:40-41, Acts 10:40-41, 1 Corinthians 11:23-29

4. Through PENANCE the sins we commit after Baptism are forgiven, as Jesus promised (John 20:23). This forgiveness depends on a contrite heart, a spirit of repentance, humble confession of our sins, and doing something to make up for what we did wrong (2 Corinthians 1:5 and 5:18).

Penance in the Bible: 2 Samuel 12:13, Ezekiel 18:30, Joel 2:12-13, Jonah 3:10, Psalm 51:5, Psalm 130:1, Matthew 9:5-6, Mark 1:15, Luke 7:47, Luke 15:21, Luke 24:47, 1 John 1:9.

5. Through the ANOINTING OF THE SICK Christ continues to minister to our souls and bodies (Mark 6:7-13). When the priest anoints those who are sick with oil (James 5:14-16) their sins are forgiven and their bodies are entrusted to God's care.

Anointing of the Sick in the Bible: Matthew 8:14-17, Mark 16:18, Luke 10:34, Luke 13:13, Acts 28:8-9, 1 Corinthians 12:9.

6. Through HOLY ORDERS some members of the church are set aside to continue Christ's ministry on earth (Acts 6:3-4, Romans 15:15-16, Colossians 1:25). As priests they serve the church as shepherds and teachers, continuing the ministry of the apostles (Acts 20:28, Ephesians 4:11-12, and 1 Timothy 4:13-15).

Holy Orders in the Bible: Deuteronomy 5:22-27, Matthew 9:38, Matthew 20:27-28, Luke 10:2, John 20:22-23, John 21:17, 1 Timothy 3:1-13, 2 Timothy 1:6, Romans 12:6, 2 Corinthians 4:5, 2 Corinthians 5:18, 1 Peter 5:3-4.

7. Through MARRIAGE Christ blesses the union of husbands and wives (Ephesians 5:22-32). No one can force a man and woman to end this bond. Jesus taught: "They are no longer two, but one flesh. Therefore, what God has joined together, no human being must separate" (Matthew 19:6, 1 Corinthians 7:10-11).

Marriage in the Bible: Genesis 1:27, Genesis 2:18-25, Mark 10:6-8, John 2:1-11, Romans 8:35, Romans 12:1, 1 Corinthians 6:19, 1 Corinthians 13:2, Ephesians 5:2, Colossians 3:14, 1 Peter 3:8, 1 John 4:8.

PHILEMON

• History

This fourth captivity letter is the shortest letter written by Paul—only 334 words in the original Greek version. It was written and sent at the same time as Colossians. Since Paul wrote it while he was in captivity, he fully understood what it meant to be locked up. He wrote it to ask Philemon, a wealthy christian who lived in Colossae, to forgive Onesimus, his runaway slave. Under Roman law this offense could mean serious punishment or even death if the slave was caught. Slavery was very common in the Roman empire. Even people who believed in God had slaves. After Onesimus ran away he went to see Paul and eventually became a Christian. Paul understood that his conversion to Christ changed things between the slave and his owner. Paul did not want to force Philemon into a decision so he appealed to his heart. He reminded him that Onesimus was now his brother in Christ and that Christ paid the debt for every person's sin. Paul wanted Philemon to realize that because they now were brothers it changed how the master and the slave looked at one another. Paul left Philemon with a great challenge: how to welcome the runaway in a society that had many slaves and servants.

It might surprise us that Paul did not oppose slavery openly in his letter. However, he knew that he could not change things overnight. Nevertheless, he dealt a quiet blow to the root of the tree of slavery by pointing out that a slave could become a brother. Paul began to change things, one person at a time. Because Paul's letters were passed around to other Christian communities, his words also touched the hearts of other slave owners. They began to think about their slaves as human beings and fellow Christians. This is what Paul hoped for when he asked Philemon to see Onesimus: "no longer as a slave but more than a slave, a brother, beloved especially to me, but even more so to you, as a man and in the Lord" (Philemon 16).

Question 1. "If he has done you an injury or owes you anything, charge it to me" (Philemon 18). Paul a model of how Jesus redeemed us. As we honestly examine our past and present, what debts has Christ payed for us? What do we owe him for this?

Question 2. "Perhaps this is why he was away from you for a while, that you might have him back...as a man and in the Lord" (Philemon 15-16). What would happen if inmates and guards saw each other as brothers in Christ?

Question 3. "Welcome him as you would me" (Philemon 17). Onesimus risked his freedom by trusting Paul and returning to Philemon. What do we risk when we find true freedom in Christ?

Question 4. "For I have experienced much joy and encouragement from your love, because the hearts of the holy ones have been refreshed by you" (Philemon 7). Do we believe in the power of one? Have we ever seen a bad situation change when one person started doing the right thing and inspired others?

HEBREWS

• History

This book is more like a sermon than a letter. The author was not Paul or one of the apostles because he explained that the gospel was taught “to us by those who heard him.” In other words, the author was not an eye witness but heard the gospel from the apostles. It is written in excellent Greek, perhaps sometime between 60 and 90 A.D. It is called Hebrews (Jewish Christians) because it has so much in it about the way Jews worshiped in the temple. The readers had to be people who understood what the author was writing about. Perhaps they were converts from the priestly class who began to have second thoughts about their conversion. The main message of this letter is that the sacrifice of Jesus on the cross was more important than any sacrifice offered in the temple. In fact, Jesus ended the sacrifices of the Old Testament: “But now once for all he has appeared at the end of the ages to take away sin by his sacrifice” (Hebrews 9:26). The author wanted to explain that Jesus is greater than the angels, Moses, prophets, the ancient priesthood, temple sacrifices, the law, and the covenant. The author also wrote to encourage his fellow Christians who were facing punishment and even death because of their belief in Christ. Since Christ was better than all these things, turning away from him and returning to their old religion would be a step backward. In all their sufferings they should “[keep their] eyes fixed on Jesus” (Hebrews 12:2). He knew what it was to suffer, and went ahead of them into heaven. Christ knew from experience what it meant to stand by God’s will, even shedding his own blood for humanity. Hebrews has meaning for Christians in every age because it teaches the meaning of Christ’s sacrifice. It gives a deeper understanding of the sacrifice of the Mass. In the Mass the death of Jesus on the cross is remembered and relived. Although it is offered throughout the world in many times and places, it is still only one sacrifice: “For by one offering he has made perfect forever those who are being consecrated” (Hebrews 10:14).

• Thoughts for Prayer

“Because he himself was tested through what he suffered, he is able to help those who are being tested” (Hebrews 2:18). You know what it is to be human like us, Lord.

“For the sake of the joy that lay before him he endured the cross” (Hebrews 12:2). Never let us forget that our lasting home is with you, God.

“Let mutual love continue. Do not neglect hospitality, for through it some have unknowingly entertained angels” (Hebrews 13:1-2). To meet anyone in need and help them, is to love you, Lord.

Question 1. “Encourage yourselves daily while it is still ‘today,’ so that none of you may grow hardened by the deceit of sin” (Hebrews 3:13). How can we live out God’s word: “harden not your hearts” (Psalm 95:7)?

Question 2. “Let us confidently approach the throne of grace to receive mercy and to find grace for timely help” (Hebrews 4:16). Why did one of the criminals next to Jesus on the cross turn to Jesus for mercy before he died? How does that give us hope?

Question 3. “Be mindful of prisoners as if sharing their imprisonment, and of the ill-treated as of yourselves, for you also are in the body” (Hebrews 13:3). How can the body of Christ remain one, even though its members are separated by walls and bars?

Question 4. “Consider how he endured such opposition from sinners, in order that you may not grow weary and lose heart” (Hebrews 12:3). Does knowing that Jesus experienced disappointment and opposition give us strength to continue our own struggle to be good?

JAMES

• History

The author of James was not an apostle. Paul called him “the brother of the Lord” in Galatians 1:19. He was not a blood brother, but relative of Jesus. In the Hebrew language a cousin is also called a brother. This is the same in many other languages even today. James was an important person in the early church. After Peter moved on, he became the leader of the Christian community in Jerusalem. This letter also is more like a sermon than a letter. Although it is written in excellent Greek, it is addressed to “the twelve tribes.” This means the Christians throughout the empire who are the new people of God. It was written before 62 A.D., the year James was stoned to death by the Jews, according to the Jewish historian Josephus. James used many wise sayings and proverbs to inspire his fellow Christians. He warned them not to deceive themselves into thinking they were religious if they did not watch how they behaved. For him, true religion was something very practical. It meant caring for others in need: “Be doers of the word and not hearers only” (James 1:22). So that his readers would not miss this point, he made it even clearer: “Religion that is pure and undefiled before God and the Father is this: to care for orphans and widows... and to keep oneself unstained by the world” (James 1:27). In other words, Christians should show God’s love by caring for the weak and defenseless, unlike the pagan society which abandoned and neglected them. James is also important for another reason. It teaches Christians to pray for the sick and anoint them “with oil in the name of the Lord” (James 5:14). For the Catholic church this is the sacrament of anointing of the sick.

“Blessed is the man who perseveres in temptation, for when he has been proved he will receive the crown of life that he promised to those who love him” (James 1:12).

Like spiritual athletes, may our love be faithful to the end, Lord.

“For one who knows the right thing to do and does not do it, it is a sin” (James 4:17).

Give us the wisdom to know what is right, and the courage to do it, God.

“Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you” (James 4:8).

You are always ready to be our friend, Lord.

“God resists the proud but gives grace to the humble” (James 4:6).

When we are full of ourselves, there is no room for you, God.

Question 1. “What good is it, my brothers, if someone says he has faith but does not have works? Can that faith save him?” (James 2:14). If someone has nothing to wear or eat, and we say to them, ‘Go in peace, keep warm, and eat well,’ but do not help them, do we really believe in the gospel?

Question 2. “Did not God choose those who are poor in the world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom that he promised to those who love him?” (James 2:5). Although we are poor and despised in the eyes of the world, can we be rich in faith and love?

Question 3. “Consider it all joy, my brothers, when you encounter various trials, for you know that the testing of your faith produces perseverance” (James 1:2-3). Where will we find the strength of spirit to have joy in the midst of our trials?

Question 4. “Whoever brings back a sinner from the error of his way will save his soul from death and will cover a multitude of sins” (James 5:20). Although we ourselves are sinners, what can we do to help others who have lost their way?

Forgiveness

Our Sin and God's Mercy "Rescue me from the mire" (Psalm 69: 15).

When we were baptized our sins were forgiven. They were washed away with water and the Holy Spirit. However, as human beings we are weak. We are selfish and break our promises. This is part of our fallen human nature. Jesus described this dark side of humanity in Matthew 15:18-20: "The things that come out of the mouth come from the heart, and they defile. For from the heart come evil thoughts, murder, adultery, unchastity, theft, false witness, blasphemy. These are what defile a person." Yet God who made us and loves us as our Father, also helps us out of the mess we've made. In Luke 15:11-32, the story of the prodigal son, Jesus teaches us that God is our father and we are the selfish runaway. When we sin we actually are running away from God. However, God waits to welcome us home, put his arms around us, and forgive us. In Luke 15:7 Jesus tells us that there is joy in heaven when a sinner repents. Despite our sins God waits for us and forgives our sins when we turn to him and truly repent. This same story calls us not to be like the self-righteous older brother, because forgiveness flows from God's unending love which always gives the sinner hope.

Confessing Our Sins "I have sinned against the LORD" (2 Samuel 12:13).

Although we have God's promise of forgiveness, the Catholic Church teaches us to confess our sins to a priest in order to receive forgiveness. Why must we confess to a human being? 1 John 1:9 says we must first admit our sins to be forgiven: "If we acknowledge our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive our sins and cleanse us from every wrongdoing." In James 5:16 we read how the sick person is visited by members of the church, anointed and encouraged to confess his sins: "Therefore, confess your sins to one another and pray for one another that you may be healed." In 2 Samuel 12:13 we read that David confessed his sin of adultery and murder to the prophet Nathan: "Then David said to Nathan: 'I have sinned against the LORD.'" Nathan answered David: 'The LORD on his part has forgiven your sin: you shall not die.'"

Examining Our Conscience "...in my inmost being you teach me wisdom" (Psalm 51:8).

Preparing for confession means carefully examining our conscience. To do this we recall the 10 commandments one by one and ask ourselves if we have disobeyed them in some way. The church teaches that there are venial and mortal sins. Venial sins are not so serious. For example, we may be impatient, bend the truth a little, treat someone rudely, or steal a pen. Other sins (listed in Matthew 15:18-20 above) are called mortal because they destroy our lives and the lives of others. Through confession the church fulfills the words of Jesus in John 20:22-23: "Receive the holy Spirit. Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained." Since Christ spoke these words, countless Christians have found forgiveness and peace when the priest says in the name of God and God's people: "I absolve you from your sins, in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit." And because God has forgiven us, we are called to forgive others.

Forgiving Others "Forgive and you will be forgiven" (Luke 6:37).

We are called to share the grace we have received. As we follow Christ who died for our forgiveness, we try to live by his call to forgive others: "If you forgive others their transgressions, your heavenly Father will forgive you" (Matthew 6:14). Forgiving those who hurt us deeply can be hard work. It may take time, but even working at it brings God's peace on ourselves and others: "Put on then, as God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, heartfelt compassion...bearing with one another and forgiving one another, if one has a grievance against another; as the Lord has forgiven you, so must you also do" (Colossians 3:12-14). Only prayer will give us the wisdom and strength to do what may seem impossible: "When you stand to pray, forgive anyone against whom you have a grievance" (Mark 11:25). Forgiving will make us like our heavenly Father, and remove the hatred that poisons our own hearts.

1 & 2 PETER

• History

1 Peter was written by “Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ” (1 Peter 1:1) before he was executed in 67 A.D. in Rome. It was meant to give courage and hope to Christians who would “have to suffer through various trials” and be “tested by fire” (1 Peter 6-7). These words proved true when Nero arrested a large group of Christians and ordered them to be covered with tar and burned alive. Nero said he was punishing them for setting fire to Rome, although he may have done it himself in order to rebuild the city. Nevertheless, Peter encouraged the followers of Christ to love one another and behave as good citizens. In this way they would be witnesses to the gospel and innocent of any crimes others would try to pin on them. Peter told them that in the end, they were in God’s hands while they “share in the sufferings of Christ” (1 Peter 4:13). This entire epistle may be an early example of preaching at a baptism.

2 Peter may not have been written by Peter but by someone else who gathered parts of Peter’s sermons together into one work. The author may have done this to warn Christians about false teachings and to discuss the final coming of Christ at the end of time. This was very much on people’s minds because they expected Christ to come soon. Some critics were saying “Where is the promise of his coming?” (2 Peter 3:4). In answer to both groups the author reminded them “that with the Lord one day is like a thousand years and a thousand years like one day” (2 Peter 3:8). Although “the day of the Lord will come like a thief” (2 Peter 3:10), it may be slow in coming because God is patient and wishes to give everyone a chance to repent.

“Although you have not seen him you love him; even though you do not see him now yet believe in him” (1 Peter 1:8). We love you and long for the day when we will see you face to face, God.

“Your faith and hope are in God” (1 Peter 1: 21).

Unless we are anchored in you, we are tossed about on the waves of life, Lord.

“He is patient with you, not wishing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance” (2 Peter 3:9). No matter how long it takes us, you never give up on us, God.

Question 1. *“Once you were ‘no people’
but now you are God’s people;
you ‘had not received mercy’
but now you have received mercy” (1 Peter 2:10).*

What are the false ways that we try to be ‘somebody’? How does God’s mercy make us ‘somebody’?

Question 2. “Come to him, a living stone, rejected by human beings but chosen and precious in the sight of God” (1 Peter 2:4). Do we truly believe that we are precious in God’s eyes? Once we do, how does this give us a part in building up the community of Christ?

Question 3. “Be free, yet without using freedom as a pretext for evil” (1 Peter 2:16). What are the ways that we try to cover up the evil we do, saying we must be free to do as we please?

Question 4. “They promise them freedom, though they themselves are slaves of corruption, for a person is a slave of whatever overcomes him” (2 Peter 2:19). What things seem to promise us freedom or pleasure, but in the end make us slaves by overcoming us?

1, 2 & 3 JOHN

• History

The three letters named after John are all dated around 100 A.D. By this time all the apostles were dead except John, the beloved disciple and an eye witness of Jesus. In the first letter he states he is proclaiming “what we have seen and heard” (1 John 1:3), and invites the readers to have fellowship with Christ. From 1 John to 3 John we read how this loving fellowship of the Christian community was tested. It had to face problems dealing with authority and false teachers. Teachers who still claimed they were Christians were spreading false ideas about who Jesus was. They could not accept that Jesus was really a human being: “Many deceivers have gone out into the world, those who do not acknowledge Jesus Christ as coming in the flesh” (2 John 7). That is why it was so important for John to write about what he had “touched with our hands” (1 John 1:1). The author gave Christians of every time and place the most beautiful definition of God: “God is love, and whoever remains in love remains in God and God in him” (1 John 4:16). However, this love does not remain up in the air, but must show itself in care for others: “If God so loved us, we also must love one another” (1 John 4:11). The letters of John focus on the belief and behavior of a christian life. Christian belief is based on the truth that Jesus Christ was both God and human. Christian behavior is based on practical love that is not all talk but shows itself to be real “in deed and truth” (1 John 3:18). For those who thought they could love God without loving others John was very clear: “If anyone says, ‘I love God,’ but hates his brother, he is a liar” (1 John 4:20).

“If God so loved us, we also must love one another” (1 John 4:11).

Make us kind and forgiving, so that we become like you, God.

“...the truth that dwells in us and will be with us forever” (2 John 2).

The truth that you are good and forgiving never fades away, Lord.

“Whoever does not love a brother whom he has seen cannot love God whom he has not seen” (1 John 4:20).

You are waiting for us among our brothers and sisters, God.

Question 1. "Whoever hates his brother is in darkness; he walks in darkness and does not know where he is going because the darkness has blinded his eyes" (1 John 2:11).

What does it mean when someone is blind with hatred? What do they not see?

Question 2. "Whoever is without love does not know God, for God is love" (1 John 4:8).
When John says someone is without love does he mean they are not loved by others, or does he mean that they do not take the time to love others?

Question 3. "Look to yourselves that you do not lose what we worked for" (2 John 8).
If we judge others all the time do we risk messing things up for ourselves too?

Question 4. "Do not imitate evil but imitate good. Whoever does what is good is of God; whoever does what is evil has never seen God" (3 John 11). When people say "I see what you mean" are they talking about the eyes of the body or the mind? Can living the gospel help us understand it better?

Resolving Conflict

Society teaches us to see those who are in a conflict as either "winners" or "losers." As followers of Christ, however, we are called to be reconcilers. This means making sure that both persons or groups in a conflict "win." In order for both to win, each must be treated with justice. Justice means what is fair for each one, and that each one is treated with dignity and respect.

Read: Matthew 5:38-48

This gospel passage calls us to a new kind of thinking that calls us to be like God who made us. We are not afraid to say to the other person or group "I want to work things out with you." We may even give up our place or something we have to others, not because we are weak but because we are strong is God's Spirit. It takes a lot of self-confidence and inner strength to put aside revenge and striking back. Because this is not easy to do, we turn to prayer and ask Christ to help us carry out his teaching. He will give us his strong Spirit to do things we could not do before. When Christ asks us to love your enemies He means that we must try to see them as human beings like ourselves, as having one Father.

Other Bible readings to explore regarding conflict resolution:

Fighting – James 4:1; Respect – 1 Peter 2:17, 3:16; Patience – Ecclesiastes 7:8, Proverbs 14:29, 15:18, 16:32; Listening – James 1:10; Acceptance – Romans 15:7

Understanding Conflict:

Because we are human we cannot always avoid conflict, This is especially true when we live in crowded places or are together all the time. However, if we handle conflict in the right way it can us get along better in the end. But if conflict goes untreated it can tear people apart. Things will only get worse because it goes underground where it builds up pressure until emotions are ready to explode Some people avoid facing conflict, hoping it will just go away. A conflict can be two people arguing over who goes first in line, or who should get a chair. Or it can be more serious – when two people from different cultures or races threaten to harm each other.

The main reason conflict happens is because of poor communication. Very often we do not hear what the other is really saying, or needs. Sometimes what we think we see, is not really what is happening. We must take the time to ask questions and sort out what really is going on. Sometimes the truth is far from what we thought it was. Every conflict has a solution. A good solution gives everyone involved the power to bring about the solution.

Resolving Conflict:

There are helpful steps to dealing with conflict. Just as poor communication is the root of conflict, good communication is the key to the solution. It demands patience and courage.

- use a mediator, someone both sides trust (someone who listens and will not take sides or judge),
- let each person say in their own words what the problem is,
- state the problem without putting blame on anyone - attack the problem not the person,
- listen carefully and be sure to understand what the other person or group is saying,
- allow enough time and be respectful of what is said,
- let each person suggest as many solutions as possible, without judging them
- choose one solution that respects the needs of each and that both can accept,
- if the problem seems to have no solution, say "let me prayer about it" and walk away,
- be willing to meet again and use the same steps, while asking for God's help.

JUDE

• History

Jude introduced himself as “the brother of James” (Jude 1), the same James who was the leader of the Christian community in Jerusalem, and who wrote the letter of James in the New Testament. If this was so, then he was not one of the twelve apostles but another Jude who was a relative of Jesus. Jude’s letter was written to a group of Christians who were bothered by people that Jude called “godless” (Jude 4). These misguided Christians perverted God’s forgiveness into lawlessness. They were trying to spread the idea that sexual misconduct was allowed because as Christians they were “free.” In behaving that way “these dreamers nevertheless also defile the flesh [and] scorn the lordship” of Jesus Christ (Jude 8) .

Jude encouraged his readers to remain loyal to the true faith: “But you, beloved, remember the words spoken beforehand by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Jude 17). He reminded them that there would be people who caused divisions in the community because they behaved “according to their own godless desires” (Jude 18). The letter ends with a beautiful prayer to God “the one who is able to keep you from stumbling” (Jude 24). This prayer is called a doxology, from a Greek word that means glory.

REVELATION

• History

Revelation is the last book of the bible. It was written some time between 54 and 96 A.D., between the reign of Nero and Domitian. Both emperors arrested, punished and executed Christians as criminals because they would not worship the emperor as a god. Like Daniel in the Old Testament, the book of Revelation is written in the apocalyptic style. This is a special way of writing that was popular 200 years before Christ until 200 years after Christ. Apocalyptic writing often used numbers and symbols that served as a code for its readers. Certain numbers had special meaning, for example, 3 meant the most, 4 meant the whole world (similar to north, south, east, and west), 6 stood for things that were imperfect, 7 was used for perfection (like the 7 days of creation), 12 referred to God's people (Israel's 12 tribes, therefore 12 apostles), and 1,000 was used to describe a large group or a long time. For the Hebrews each letter of the alphabet had a number that went with it. The first letter was 1, the second was 2, and so on. That is how the emperor Nero was linked to 666, the number of the beast mentioned in Revelation 12:18. Other symbols had meaning for the time in which early Christians lived. In Revelation 12 the woman is the church and the beasts are the rulers of the empire. Rome, the capital of the empire, was called Babylon, a harlot, and also the beast "with seven heads" (Revelation 17:3) because Rome was built on seven hills. In Revelation 17:9-18 the author explained many of the symbols he used: "Here is a clue for one who has wisdom" (v.9). Revelation was written to give courage and hope to Christians who were undergoing great trials and suffering because of their loyalty to Christ and his gospel. There were lies circulating about them, and their religion was misunderstood. The emperors realized that this new religion was a threat to their special status as gods. In this time of spiritual warfare, the author reminded Christians that Christ was the true ruler of all (Revelation 1:5). In every age his followers join the earthly struggle against the power of evil. The message of the bible ends where it began in Genesis: God wants to be with his people. He is with them in the fight against evil, giving them the guidance and strength to see them through to a better life with him: "Behold, God's dwelling is with the human race...God himself will always be with them" (Revelation 21:3). The final message of this book is that God wins!

Question 1. “Do not be afraid. I am the first and the last, the one who lives. Once I was dead but now I am alive forever and ever” (Revelation 1:17-18). When Jesus promised eternal life, did he mean our bodies will never die? Why does the church describe those who have died as “born to eternal life”?

Question 2. “Behold, I make all things new” (Revelation 21:5). Is God able and willing to wipe away all our past mistakes and make us totally new persons? What is our part in this?

Question 3. “I am the searcher of hearts and minds and I will give each of you what your works deserve” (Revelation 2:23). What is one truly unselfish deed for another worth in the eyes of God?

Question 4. “He will wipe every tear from their eyes, and there shall be no more death or mourning” (Revelation 21:4). How strong and powerful is our hope of eternal life?

PRAYERS OF THE BIBLE

“...from your delightful stream you give them to drink.
For with you is the fountain of life” (Psalm 36:9-10).

When we turn to the prayers of the bible, we truly are praying in the Spirit, because the bible is the inspired Word of God. Not only are they beautiful prayers written a long time ago, but they are still full of meaning for people today. Another reason they are special is because they were known and used by Jesus and the apostles. Remember, Jesus and the apostles were Jews, so they turned to the writings of Old Testament to inspire them and help them pray. The prayers of the New Testament are a great treasure because they were given to us by Jesus, Mary, and the apostles themselves. We have their own words to teach us how to pray.
